После смерти Пастернака только через семь лет началось то, что можно называть нормальным издательским путём и издательской историей. На этой схеме видно, что то, что устроила ЦРУ, с одной стороны было благом, потому, что книжка была напечатана и, возможно, из-за выхода этого ЦРУ-шного русского издания Пастернак получил Нобелевскую премию. Подчёркиваю - возможно! Этих документов нет. Я предполагаю, что он, все-таки, получил из-за ЦРУ-шного издания. Но я оговариваю это очень тщательно. В каком смысле из-за этого, мог ли получить без этого, почему Нобелевский комитет, как гласит легенда, дважды подчёркиваю - ЛЕГЕНДА - я этого не утверждаю, пусть мне этого никто не приписывает, что необходимо было русское издание для того, чтобы Нобелевский комитет смог присудить свою премию Пастернаку в 1958 году. Это положительная сторона дела, что книга была выпущена, а отрицательная - это то, что рынок был испорчен. [After the death of Pasternak, only seven years later began what can be called the normal publishing path and publishing history. This diagram shows that what the CIA arranged was, on the one hand, a blessing, because the book was printed and, possibly, because of the publication of this CIA's Russian edition, Pasternak received the Nobel Prize. I emphasize - it is possible! These documents do not exist. I suppose he got it, after all, because of the CIA edition. But I stipulate this very carefully. In what sense because of this, could get without it, why the Nobel Committee, as the legend says, I emphasize twice - LEGEND - I do not assert this, let no one ascribe this to me, that a Russian edition was needed in order for the Nobel Committee was able to award his Prize to Pasternak in 1958. This is the positive side of the matter that the book was released, and the negative side is that the market was spoiled.] ^ Michael Scammell (10 July 2014). "The CIA's 'Zhivago'".
